

Triangle Girl Tries to Take Over

By: Sophie Rinard

Once upon a time there was a square person named Square Man. He was a super hero.

He was at his house. He was playing in his backyard. It was a sunny day, and then Triangle Girl came. Triangle girl and square man did not like each other.

Square Man said, “
You’re are not getting Earth. Triangle Girl was evil. She wanted to take over the world

So they had a fight; they decided that whoever won would get Planet Earth! The fight had five rounds. Triangle girl shouted "You're going down!"

Triangle Girl won the first round; Square Man won the second round. Square Man won the third round too. Triangle girl won the fourth round.

There was only one more round. Whoever won that round would win Planet Earth. Square Man won!

He was so happy because at first he was so scared that he was going to lose and if he lost Triangle girl would get the world. It was the best day of his life, everyday was!

Meanwhile..... Triangle girl was very sad because Square Man had won the whole thing, so Triangle Girl had to leave Earth!

A child's drawing on a rectangular piece of paper with a grey, textured background. In the center is a circular Earth with green continents and blue oceans. To the left of Earth is a purple and blue rocket ship with yellow windows. Above Earth is a purple and red alien figure with a yellow triangle on its head. To the right is a large sun with a blue and cyan upper half and a yellow and orange lower half, with yellow rays extending downwards. Below the sun is a red planet. To the left of Earth is a brown planet. The entire scene is framed by a grey, textured border.

She had to go to a different planet forever. Square Man never had to deal with Triangle girl again.

Once Triangle Girl was on the new planet she made evil plans to destroy a different planet.

And everyone lived happily ever after.
